The New York Blower Company began working with Ron Knickrehm, La Porte Occupational Health's physical therapist and ergonomic specialist as far back as 1999. La Porte Occupational Health has also been providing our annual employee wellness screenings for many years. Because they had done such an outstanding job providing those services, we transitioned to La Porte Occupational Health for all of our occupational health and wellness needs in July of 2015. They have done a tremendous job treating our injured employees and getting them back to work as quickly and as safely as possible.

Dr. Sayers is a very knowledgeable provider, an excellent communicator, and goes above and beyond for New York Blower. He and the staff at La Porte Occupational Health have also been instrumental in assisting us with our OSHA respirator and hearing conservation programs.

La Porte Occupational Health has stepped up to work alongside us to support and enhance our Safety and Wellness programs. I am pleased to recommend La Porte Occupational Health to any company that may be considering them for occupational health, ergonomics, or corporate wellness services.
